In this brand we also pack orders every day for let quality Meerschaum Pipes. Try it and convince yourselves it is all it claims to be. "THE FINEST OF ALL."

LORILLARDS CENTURY CHEWING TOBACCO. This brand of Fine Cut chewing tobacco has no equal or superior anywhere. It is without doubt the best chewing Tobacco in the country.

FARM-YARD SCRAPS.

From the monthly reports for March and April to the Department of Agriculture at Washington City we extract the following:

THE WHEAT.

North Carolina.—But four of forty-two counties making returns represent the condition of wheat below an average, viz: Bertie, Gaston, Jackson and Randolph. Among the counties in which winter cereals "look well," or appear to be in an average or "good" condition, are Alexander, Beaufort, Chowan, Camden, Currituck, Davidson, Franklin, Guilford, Granville, Gates, Harnett, Macon, Mecklenburg, Moore, Surry, Stokes and Yadkin. It is reported "promising" in Burke, Caswell, Duplin, Person and Wake. It is better than usual in Montgomery, Rowan, Perquimans, Rutherford, Stanly and Wilkes; "very fine" in Orange; better than for years in Columbia and in Chatham; over an average in Greene; never better in Madison and in Sampson, and one third more grown; and favorable returns come from Martin, Lenoir, and Greene.

Jackson County, N. C.—Mr. G. Edwards living in a mountain section near the Blue Ridge, where wheat seldom succeeds, last year produced on a little square in his garden at the rate of sixty bushel per acre of Arnautka spring wheat; N. Y. Alman, of Franklin, produced nine bushels from a half bushel of seed on poor red land without manure, of the same variety.

HOG CHOLERA.

James Harkness, of St. Louis, Missouri, writing to the department in reference to "hog cholera," so called, says: A few words about prevention and cure. The beautiful butterfly that is seen in every clover field, lays its eggs in the flower and they are eaten by the hogs, when they develop into worms, much as the nits of the bot fly is developed in the horse, but with this difference; the worms are very injurious to the hog, whereas the bot does the horse no harm.

Sulphate of iron (copperas) in the proportion of a tablespoonful for a hog of one hundred and fifty or two hundred pounds once a week in the slop barrel, will kill every worm it touches as sure as prussic acid will kill red-blooded animals. In case of costiveness from eating ants, add about the same of sulphur. These safe and simple remedies are equally good for all domestic animals, as they are obnoxious to worms of different kinds.

Timothy, herd, orchard, and other grasses are much better for hogs than clover. Hogs will appreciate shelter from summer's sun or the northern blasts, as much as any domestic animal we possess.

SHEEP KILLING DOGS.

A partial enumeration of the sheep killed the past year by dogs, as returned from four hundred and seventeen counties, aggregating 99,387, points to a loss of half a million sheep killed and as many more wounded by dogs, involving an actual loss of two millions, and a constructive and none the less loss to production of many millions more. Millions of dollars' worth of rich grasses and other vegetation annually go to waste in the open and grassy forests, and in the old fields and waste places of the South, because there are no sheep to feed upon them; and the reason why sheep are not thus utilizing this spontaneous production is, the presence of dogs.

In a report from twenty four counties in North Carolina over five thousand sheep have been killed by dogs. And in King George county Va. more than half the flock was cut up by dogs last winter.

SHEEP IN OHIO.

Tuscarawas County, Ohio.—Sheep diseases are various. The most serious is what is called the pale disease and foot-rot. As to the cause of the pale disease, men differ; one fact is observant, that is mostly confined to lambs and yearlings, and the deaths occurring from time to time, after the first of January. These animals are found white and bloodless; reduced in flesh, but not to as great an extent as might be supposed; some have been examined and small worms found in their intestines. It is my impression, derived from observation and practice, that a great deal of the pale disease could be avoided by taking the sheep in to winter in good, strong condition, and the time to watch and observe the sheep the most carefully is soon after the first frosts of autumn appear, and then a little grain fed daily until winter begins will be money well expended.

The Journal of the Farm recommends that farmers everywhere guard against drought by sowing corn, and if it is not needed in the summer, dried for winter use, it will give you more food to the acre than any other crop. It also recommends harrow for soiling cattle, and gives these characteristics:

"Its roots are very tough and fibrous, and are indomitable seekers of nourishment. They penetrate so deeply into the soil as to be almost beyond the reach of injury by drought. For this reason, when in dry seasons other green crops and pasture grasses wilt, and not unfrequently perish, lucern maintains a freshness and greenness as vigorous as in the most favorable seasons."

The Loyal Ku Klux.

Brutal Outrage!—A Quiet Citizen of Macon County is Whipped by Loyal Leaguers, and Afterwards Shot! His Wife Knocked Down! Threats to Burn and Destroy! Read and Ponder.

We are informed by a gentleman whose veracity is beyond question, that a most horrible outrage was committed on the person of Mr. Shelton Kennerley, a farmer living on Nantihala River, in Macon county, on the 1st inst. The victim was a quiet and law abiding citizen, and a firm Conservative. On Sunday evening, while strolling over his little place, Mr. Kennerley, was approached by three Loyal Leaguers, clothed in Yankee Uniform. They asked permission to tarry for the night, as they were extremely fatigued. Mr. K. stated that his wife was quite unwell; but, upon his being pressed, finally consented to give them a night's lodging. Returning to the house, and at a moment when Mrs. Kennerley's back was turned, all drew their pistols and seized him, shouting that they were from Ohio, and intended to have his blood. Mrs. Kennerley screamed and began to plead for her husband, when one of the brutal Loyal Leaguers knocked her down with the butt end of his pistol. They started out the door with their prisoner, but a large dog, with almost human instinct, sprang to the assistance of his master and seized one of the ruffians by the leg. He was immediately shot through the head. Having carried Mr. Kennerley some little distance from his house, his captors compelled him to kneel, and ordered him to say his prayers, as he had but a few minutes to live. They then began to whip him with hickory withs, cutting the blood with every stroke, until at last the unfortunate man, half crazed, and almost dead, darted off through the woods. The brutal Loyal Leaguers gave chase, firing as they ran, until Mr. K. fell, with a ball through one arm, and one through his head, and a severe wound on his scalp. It is supposed that fifteen shots were fired in all. The ruffians then becoming alarmed at the screams of Mrs. Kennerley, and supposing their victim in his dying gasps, fled in haste, and had not been heard from up to yesterday. Mr. Kennerley revived, and managed to crawl home, and is now improving, although his wounds and bruises are frightful to look upon.

It is perhaps a useless waste of time and space to comment on this affair. It may be that ere this is read the miscreants have had justice meeted out to them. Let the facts be investigated by those who understand how to deal with such cases. Meanwhile we commend this "Ku Klux outrage" to the consideration of the Standard.

Asheville Citizen.

A Spicy Letter.

The Grand Army Journal publishes the following letter, accompanied with the comments which precede and follow. So far as it may be considered a contest of wit or logic, we think the one-legged Confederate has nothing to be ashamed of. A single sentence: "I am now laboring daily on one leg to assist in paying pensions to those who shot the other off," is a hundred-pounder, whether regarded as wit or logic:

A united States pension agent has been favored with the following juicy letter from one of the Jones family, who, though a crippled soldier, chivalrously declines to become a pensioner upon the government:

WETUMPKA, Ala., March 27 '70.

Dear Sir: I am just in receipt of your circular dated the 27th November, 1869, inclosing blank to be filled by me as an "Invalid Pensioner" upon the Government of the United States. I am, unfortunately, an invalid, having lost my right leg at the battle of Murfreesboro', Tenn, while in the service of the then Confederate States (Thirty-fourth Alabama regiment, company F.) but up to this time, am pleased to state, I am not a "pensioner" upon any government. On the contrary, I am now laboring daily, on one leg, to assist in paying pensions to those who shot the other off. Not being able to use the papers sent me, [illegible] county, formerly a member of the Twentieth Massachusetts volunteers, I reinclose them to you.

Hoping that you will yet succeed in finding the true and loyal William Jones, with affectionate regard for yourself and your government, I remain, truly, &c.

WILLIAM JONES.

P. S.—Should you find that your Bill Jones lives in Elmore, couldn't you fix it with the government so that I can pay him his pension myself, taking his receipt as a voucher against the internal revenue man, Strawbridge? This arrangement would be safer, and more convenient for both the Joneses, and perhaps, for the government.

N. B.—It is highly probable that the Wm. Jones of whom you are in search is a "Fifteenth Amendment" (as Massachusetts filled her quotas in the United States army during the late war, mostly from that class of population,) and has gone to assist in "reconstructing" our sister State, Mississippi. We may expect him to return to Alabama, however, in time to take part in our fall elections; and, though an "invalid," he will be able to vote in several counties.

W. J.

Let our late enemy continue to cultivate a cheerful spirit. To be sure, it is a striking example of poetic justice that he should be required to labor on one leg "to assist in paying pensions to those who shot the other off;" but, Jones, we solemnly assure you that you can do penance for your sins in no better way. "Let us have peace."

A WISE PLATFORM.

We invite the attention of our readers to the resolutions, published in another column, which were adopted "at a meeting of THE PEOPLE of Orange County," in Hillsboro', on Saturday last, the 7th inst. They are by far the wisest and most judicious, in our opinion, of any that have yet been adopted by the Opposition, Reform, or anti-Radical party in North Carolina. It will be observed that the meeting did not profess to be an assemblage of any political party, but only of "the people of Orange County." It very wisely, as we think, in the resolutions adopted, ignored all old party organizations, and "invited the co-operation of all good citizens, who desire the re-establishment of the credit, honor and prosperity of the country, rather than the ascendency of party." The resolutions are also free from all unnecessary asperity; they contain not a word that is in any degree offensive to those who have honestly co-operated with the Radical party heretofore. They are eminently conciliatory in their tone and character, and constitute a platform upon which all the true friends of the State can unite, in the coming election, in elevating good and honest men to office, who will "undertake the task of reform with no rash hand," but with prudence, moderation, and circumspection. They also condemn in proper and just terms the "prospective policy which was set forth as the cardinal doctrine of faith at the inauguration of the present government of North Carolina," the natural result of which is "the present deplorable condition to which our State has been brought." As they denounce the proscriptive policy of those in power, which recognizes no qualifications for office except that the appointees shall be "violent partizans and willing tools of persecution," they, by implication, recommend that such policy be rejected and such a course avoided by the Opposition. And nothing but the rejection of such a policy, and the avoidance of such a course by the Opposition, will insure it that success which is now within its reach under judicious management.

We recommend these resolutions, eminently fit as they are, from their elevated and tolerant tone, from the wise and statesmanlike policy which they suggest to proceed from the people of Orange, Granville, and which we think emanated from his pen, to the consideration of the friends of REFORM throughout the State. Upon this platform they can win, by the adoption of the policy which it suggests, and they can, in our humble opinion, win upon no other.

PREMIUMS TO BE AWARDED AT THE STATE FAIR.—The Executive Committee of the North Carolina Agricultural Society, announce a partial list of the premiums to be awarded at the State Fair next fall. Disastrous Fire in Henderson, N. C.

Nearly the whole Town in Ashes.

A terrible calamity has fallen upon the citizens of the town of Henderson, in Granville County, about which we have been able to obtain the following brief information:

About three o'clock Monday morning the storehouse belonging to Dr. Debnam was discovered to be on fire. Immediately means were employed to stifle the flames, but all in vain. Before any efficient remedy could be used a brisk breeze sprung up and caused the sparks and flames to communicate with buildings on the opposite side of the street. The attempt to stay the furious element then became worse than folly. Every house was consumed from the store of L. H. Kittle, Esq., to the residence of Mr. West Reavis, on either side of the street, and nearly all the stores and dwellings between this street and the railroad.

The fire continued to rage until about six o'clock, and only ceased when there was nothing more within its reach to be consumed. It is fully believed to be the work of an incendiary. Many goods and articles of furniture were saved from the different dwellings, but in the hurry and confusion the things rescued were badly damaged. We have heard of no loss of life or personal injury.

The stores of Messrs. Burwell and Parham, D. E. Young, R. Lassiter & Co., Jas. H. Lassiter, L. H. Kittle, P. W. Wyche, John E. Clark, J. G. Saunders, Edward Fasnach, Henry T. Watkins, Benjamin Travis and Walter C. Harris were burned to the ground. Capt. I. J. Young is thought to be the heaviest loss.

The entire loss is estimated at about seventy-five thousand dollars. Insurance, in all, about twenty-five thousand dollars.

Ral. Standard.

VELOCITY OF INSECTS' WINGS DURING FLIGHT.—M. E. Morey has made some curious investigations on this subject. Much doubt has arisen as to the cause of the humming sound produced by insects, but which is generally supposed to be caused by the vibrations of the wings during flight. To ascertain their velocity, M. E. Marey adopted the following plan: The insect was [illegible] pers, and when it sought to fly one of its wings was directed in such a way that it rubbed its point against the surface of a smoked cylinder which revolved with a known velocity. The wing at each of these revolutions carried away a little of the black smoke which covered the cylinder, and left a trace of its passage. The result of the experiments, allowing in regard to their accuracy for a variety of distracting causes, was to show the following number of beats per second for the wings of each insect. The common fly 330, the drone 240, the bee 190, the wasp 110, the hawk-moth 72, the dragon fly 38, and the cabbage-butterfly, which is inaudible, 9 beats per second. By other variations of the experiments he arrived at similar results.

AN INDIGNANT REBUTTAL.—To the Editor of the Virginian: Through the columns of the Norfolk Virginian I am apprised that I have been elected as one of the vice presidents of the Woman's Rights Convention. If such is the case, it is entirely without my knowledge or consent. I am not an advocate for "Woman's Suffrage;" my ambition has never led me to aspire to the ballot-box. I believe no one who knows me well has ever given me credit for masculine tastes; my ideas of what a refined and elegant lady should be are too exalted to permit me to descend from the pedestal upon which I would desire to see every woman placed.

This is not the first attempt that some [illegible] has endeavored to vil-

☞ Capt. Miles Hill, an ex-rebel officer of the fourth Georgia regiment, died in Valdosta, Ga., on the second of this month.

There are too many politicians standing in the way like guide-posts and all pointing to different roads, for the people to take the right one. The result is: The people are scattering every day, some going in one direction, and some another, and all, devilishly demoralized and ready to "tremble when the lion roars."

Congress sees the point. And once and awhile they let slip a growl just for the fun of seeing the sovereigns squat and the voices of demagoguing politicians put to confusion. Inch by inch is Congress gathering up the reins to drive this "masheen" as they want it run, and not an uninteresting feature is the President himself worked as a wheel-horse in the national turnout.

Therefore: the best thing we can do is to elect sensible and conservative men to office who appreciate our situation as a whipped people, and who submitting themselves to the reconstruction laws will labor for the agricultural and financial prosperity of this State, rather than to show themselves off by senseless rhodomantade about "scallawags" and "radicals" and "yankees" and "constitutional liberties," hi' Betty Martin, balderdash and nonsense.

Old things have passed away and all things become new. And the election this summer will argue nothing of a return to "the old times as they used to be:" for those days have gone forever. And the politicians themselves know it, unless they be the veriest gumps. But the mischief is these same politicians know another thing, and they play on it too; they know the deep rooted prejudices of our people against the men that whipped them; and with cunning tongues they tickle their prejudices even at the expense of starving their prosperity. Noise is a powerful element. An old writer says: few men would have courage for either a battle or a wedding if it were not for the din of the trumpets and the joy bells. So it is the action of two thirds of our people in a political campaign is determined by noise on the stump.

We must scratch our heads and think,
Who says we may vote? Congress.
Who says we shant vote? Congress.
Who says we may pass laws? Congress.
Who says we shant pass laws? Congress.
Who reconstructed Georgia? Congress.
Who unreconstructed Georgia? Congress.

Take care then. Vote for no men who sit like fried meat whenever a party issue is kindled. Vote for no men who are not known to be in favor of healing the breach between the two sections. Vote for no men who have not been and are not now fearless and unwavering advocates of law and order against the prevalence of mobbism and midnight whipping-posts. If you do, you'll repent it. If you do, you'll get ashes where you ought to gather fruit. If you do, you'll get dry thunder where you ought to have rain. Remember Georgia.

Since writing the above the convention in this place have nominated Gov. Graham for the Senate, and Messrs Atwater and Strudwick for the House. All right.

Mr. Strudwick is a talented young lawyer of this place we know very well and like very much.

Mr. Atwater is said to be the best farmer out and a Conservative of the "straitest sect"

Now a word. If these candidates in their course will endorse the line of conservatism this paper has steadily and consistently drawn we will support them. If not, not. Were we a candidate before the people we would make a talk similar to the following: Fellow Citizens: You know me. I never stole any; never cir-cum-locu-tion-ized around any of you for your vote. I'm no kuklux, no league; I'm for law. I never was a kuklux, never was a league; was always for the law. I was whipped at Appomattox. I conclude to stay whipped.

THE STATES TO BE ABOLISHED.—Senator Brownlow writes:

"Had I my way I would so reconstruct the Government of the United States as to form a strong central government here in the District of Columbia, and organize the States as so many colonial corporations, as absolutely dependent upon and subject to the will of a Central power at Washington as are counties to States. Thus I would wipe out and extirpate the whole theory and pretence of State sovereignty, to which we are mainly indebted for the late rebellion. While I only speak for myself, I believe that Congress and the Country are looking in the same direction.

W. G. BROWNLOW.

Washington, April 25, 1870.

"Congress and the Country looking in the same direction!" That is emphatically true as to Congress and the Radical party, of which Brownlow, Sumner, Butler and others are the embodiment. We have all-along charged the Radical wing of the Republican party with this design, and that old political reprobate, Brownlow, now lets "the cat out of the bag." Can men who claim to be conservative Republicans, like Chief Justice Chase, (our candidate for the next Presidency as he was our choice in the Convention that nominated Mr. Seymour,) Gov. Walker, of Va., ex-U. S. Senator Doolittle, and other Republicans of like calibre, affiliate with the Radical Republicans of the Brownlow stripe? They cannot and will not. To the credit of Gov. Walker be it said he cut loose from the Radical Republican faction of Virginia last spring and carrying with him all the conservative element of Republicanism in Virginia, coalesced with the Conservative party of Virginia, and snatched her from the iron grasp of Radical despotism. Let no one charge the Walker Republicans of Virginia with "radicalism," for they are far from it—fully as much so as any of the extreme Conservative gentlemen in North Carolina who think that our garments smell of radicalism because we draw a line of distinction between Conservative Republicans and Radicals. By the term "conservative Republican" we mean one who accepted the reconstruction acts of Congress in the beginning in good faith, and voted for their adoption, but who repudiates the doctrine of negro equality and who endorsed negro suffrage, &c., only because Congress required it and there could be no getting back into the Union without it. This class of Republicans endorsed the reconstruction acts of Congress, as remarked above, at a time when many of us stood opposed to them—we (the senior) opposed coming back into the Union upon the conditions stipulated by the Peoples' "masters," (for masters we had and still have in Congress.) To secure reconstruction these conservative Republicans affiliated or voted with carpet-baggers, scallawags, &c. They carried their point, and we "gave in"—there was no use in kicking against the laws of the land. And now, even at the risk of being called 'Radicals,' we draw a line of distinction between "conservative Republicans" and Radicals. But stick a pin right here: The cause for mutual co-operation of the two elements of Republicanism being settled or removed, we maintain that "conservative Republicans" cannot co-operate longer with Radicals. In Virginia they are co-operating with the Conservatives on a "liberal" platform. Will not all conservative Republicans in North Carolina do the same? Can they endorse the radical doctrine above as promulgated by Brownlow? Will they not tacitly endorse it if they pull in Radical harness? And would it not be well for Conservative gentlemen to invite the co-operation of conservative Republicans by agreeing to share the honors and emoluments of office with them, rather than denounce them as Radicals, simply because they accepted the situation in the out-start and supported the reconstruction acts?—We suggested, some time ago, a Conven-tion of "liberal" Conservatives and Republicans, but some of coalescing, but some brains hinted radicalism.—

Radicalism responsible for Southern Disorder.

If the Southern people indicate dissatisfaction with the "best Government the world ever saw"—if they evince restiveness and a disregard of law and order—we must confess that the Government, ruled by Radicals, is greatly to blame for it. In reconstructing the Union the whites were required to consent to colored suffrage and to the political equality of the African race. This was a bitter pill, but nevertheless they swallowed it. Then came impositions of the most exorbitant taxes, coupled with more "dirt-eating"—all of which the people submitted to patiently. And now we see that Sumner, in the U. S. Senate, wants to bind us with more chains of slavery. Under pretence of "enforcing the fifteenth amendment" he has introduced a bill making it a crime for a white man to advise a negro as to his voting, and punishing with fine and imprisonment any white man who shall turn off a negro laborer on account of his politics or voting. Thus if you have in your employ a colored man who lends himself as a voting tool to a carpet-bagger who seeks your ruin by taxing you, you dare not discharge him! but shall let him hold on and eat your meat and bread and vote to ruin you with taxes and kill you on dirt-eating. It is laws like this that exasperate the whites and render them dissatisfied with the situation. Sumner's proposition is an interference with, or rather an abridgement of, the personal rights of man. We do not hold with the right or propriety of the employer meddling in any way with the employee's politics or voting—he should be left free to vote as he pleases—and his employer has a right to expect that the employee will not consent to let men influence his vote whose policy, if carried out, would bankrupt the man employing or feeding him. If the laborer voted in accordance with honest judgment, that would be a different thing—the evil effect of his vote could be overlooked. But to work for a man for fair wages—to eat his bread and meat and 'knowingly' vote to bankrupt him and to rob yourself of employment, is mean—to say the least of it. And no system of Legislation Congress can adopt will prevent an employer from discharging "a hand" when he chooses to do so. Why should an employer be denied the right to pay an employee up for the time he hired him, and dispense with his services? We concede that the employee has a right to exact wages for the length of time he contracted to serve.

But this is not all: The Sumner bill, under severe pains and penalties, requires all hotels, boarding houses, rail road cars, theatres, &c., to throw open their doors to the negro and place him upon terms of equality with the whites. What right has congress to enact such a law? Chief Justice Chase (our choice for the next Presidency) would say none!—not a bit more than it has to prescribe the terms on which we shall hire or discharge employees.

These are Radical manœuvres to get the colored vote. But we dare the party to pass the bill. Sumner is too smart for that.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

The Post Office.

Who is to have the postoffice. It is creditable to Governor Holden that he has offered it to the family of the late lamented Dennis Heartt, but it was declined. We have faith that Gov. Holden will recommend none other than a good and respectable man for postmaster.

Appointment.

The Rev. Thos. W. Fancett will preach at the "Green Spring church" in this county every third Saturday between the hours of 3 and 4 o'clock in the evening.

Last March.

From a monthly report of the weather sent us from Washington city for the month of last March we subjoin the following statements.

At Chapel Hill, on the sixth, rain, hail and sleet, and a freeze.

At Statesville, rain froze on the trees, the 6th; ground white with snow 16th.

At Albemarle, high winds, rain, thunder, 12th, 13th; peach trees in full bloom, 17th; pear trees in full bloom on the 30th.

In South Carolina, at Holland's Store, the wild plum blossomed on the second; peaches nearly all killed the 21st; and a great freshet, the 31st.

In Alabama, at a place called Rockville, the ground was frozen the 8th; pear blossoms 13th; ice half an inch thick 16th; mocking birds 18th; and apple blossoms on the 21st.

In Hampton, Virginia, there were peach blossoms the 20th, and wild plum blossoms the 28th. There were seventeen frosts. And the month was one degree colder than last March.

In Vienna, Virginia, there were frogs hollering the 11th; and cherry and peach blossoms 28th. And at Zuni Station, down in eastern Virginia, they had thunder storms the 12th and 16th; auroras 13th, brilliant 28th; and the peaches were mostly killed.

The Rev. Dr. CURTIS, of this town, has kindly furnished us with the following

Weather Report for the month of March.

HILLSBOROUGH, MARCH, 1870.

Thermometer ranged from 22° to 69°.

Frost on the 1st, 8th, 9th, 10th, 14th, 15th 19th and 25th.

Coldest day, 10th. Warmest 21st.

No snow nor sleet.

Early peaches generally killed. Others not essentially injured. Cherries, Plums, Apples, likely to be abundant.

Sam Allen.

Sam Allen is a negro who lives in a little cabin on the side of the road from here to Milton. Report says that a negro was shot at Sam's house one night last week and killed by disguised and unknown men. Sam is said to be in Raleigh now. We give the tale as it was told us by gentlemen of that neighborhood. Sam had been making his brags about his going to get a detachment of militia to guard his house and protect him from the Ku-Klux. Sure enough he did get a corporal's guard of negro men from the neighborhood armed with old muskets and stationed them around his cabin. The result was that an old negro man some sixty or seventy years old who was standing sentinel with a loaded gun was found "gone up the spout" the next morning. Sam alleges the ku-klux killed him. Anyway he was found dead as a spoilt mackerel.

To Bleach Beeswax.

This is the way they bleach beeswax in Italy and we give it to our country friends as a Mr. L. G. Olmstead, of New York, wrote it from Italy to the Goverment. He says:

The yellow wax is first melted in a kettle, and then is dipped out into a long tin vessel that will hold two or three gallons, and which has a row of small holes about the diameter of a knitting needle in the bottom. This vessel is fixed over a cylinder of wood two feet in length and fifteen inches in diameter, which is made to revolve like a grindstone in one end of a trough of water two and one-half feet in width, ten to fifteen feet in length, and one in depth. As the melted wax falls in small streams on this wet revolving cylinder it flattens out into a thin ribbon and floats off toward the other end of the trough of water. It is then dipped out with a skimmer, (that may be made of osier twigs,) spread on a table with a top made of small willow rods covered with a clean white cloth, and then exposed in this way to the sun until bleached.

Receipes.

HOW TO KEEP WEEVIL OUT OF CORN.

Shell your corn before March—let it be dry, and put it in a dry box—then cover mouse proof, and fear no evil.

HOW TO DESTROY VERMIN ON STOCK.

Buckwheat flour sprinkled on stock will destroy lice.

HOW TO STACK OATS.

Put down a layer of hay, and then a layer of peppermint weed; stack your oats on this, and then when the stack is complete, cover with another layer of peppermint and finish with a layer of hay on it. It will not be troubled with rats or mice. So says Mr. John Miller, of this vicinity, from whom we get the above.

Rain.

We had a refreshing rain last night. It was badly needed for gardens. We began to fear a drouth.

☞ The proceedings of the Leasburg Township meeting came to hand too late for this issue. They have the ring of the right metal, and shall appear next week.

ASSASSINATION OF J. W. STEPHENS, Of Caswell County!!!

Following the killing of a negro at Sam Allen's in quick succession comes the horrible news of the murder of J. W. Stephens, late State Senator for Caswell county. He had been reported "missing" so often, and it proved untrue, that we felt disinclined to credit the rumor when we first heard it, and had sincerely hoped it would prove untrue. But we deeply regret to state the rumor proves true. The unfortunate man was taken from his residence on Saturday night by disguised men, as we learn, carried in the Court House and there strangled or choked to death. We await authentic particulars.

The character of this man for mischief-making between the two races was such that it would not have surprised us at any time to have heard of a difficulty between him and some of the citizens—an open undisguised day-light difficulty. But we are startled to hear of his assassination. Great heaven! has it come to this? Is midnight assassination to be the order of the day in this christian land? Shall the bloody tragedies that characterized the French Revolution be imitated in North Carolina?—Are Laws cob-webs or mere ropes of sand? With such disregard of law and order—such a spirit of lawlessness pervading the people, what man or woman in the State can retire to bed at night in conscious safety? We again lift our voice for Law and Order. We again conjure every body to respect the Laws, whether good or bad.—We again call upon law-defying men to pause! Pause for the good of outraged society! Pause, for the good of the loved ones at home. Pause for your own good in this world and the world to come, and "let us have peace" on earth and good will toward man.

In the beginning of men taking the law in their own hands, we saw the danger it would lead to—the evil tendency of the precedent—and as public Journalists whose duty it is to denounce crime, uphold Law and protect society, the Recorder shrunk not from its duty. But for performing our duty to God, Man and Society, we were censured—aye, threatened by a cowardly, God-forsaken miscreant who skulks in the dark, but whose threat disturbed us not so much as the buzzing of a fly—it was but the braying of a donkey in the lion's robe. We have never failed to denounce outrages, whether by kuklux, the league or otherwise, and when we cease to do so, we shall cease to conduct a newspaper worthy the countenance of the people.

Stephens is dead! but who is profited by his death? Consider it philosophically.—There are "ills" men "better bear than fly to others they know not of." It was a damaging blow to the intelligent County of Caswell so distinguished, until recently, for the law-abiding disposition of her people, both white and black. But bad men are to be found in all Counties, and the good should not be blamed for their villainous deeds. If the assassins' dagger drank Stephens' blood, it inflicted at the same time a wound upon the County, and it behooves all good men to be diligent in ferreting out the assassins and bringing them to the bar of public Justice. And they will do it—we know that people.

HILLSBORO, May 21st 1870.

HON. W. A. GRAHAM. Sir: At a meeting of the citizens of Orange, composing the Conservative Party, you were selected to represent the county in the State Senate and we were appointed a committee to communicate with you and ask your acceptance of this nomination which is as you know equivalent to an election.

Allow us, Sir, to add our most earnest wish that you will accept.

Very respectfully, your ob't servant.

EVANS TURNER,
ALVIS DURHAM,
—— CANADY.

HILLSBORO May 23rd, 1870.

Gentlemen: I have had the honor to receive your note informing me, that at a meeting of the Conservative citizens of Orange, I had been selected as a candidate for the State Senate in the approaching election; and you are pleased to add, that such a nomination is equivalent to an election, and to unite your own wishes to those of the body you represent, that I will accept.

I am deeply sensible of this manifestation of the confidence and regard of my friends and neighbors among whom my life has been passed since arriving at manhood, and beg them to be assured, that in all the past relations between us no circumstance has impressed me with more grateful feelings. I happened to be absent from home at the time of your meeting and for a week previously. I regret this, because otherwise, I should have made an immediate reply, and the necessity of another assemblage might have been avoided. Some time since, upon the matter being proposed, I announced, that it would not be in my power to serve if elected to the General Assembly; that I had not contemplated any call for my service in that body, and that my business and duties absolutely forbade it. On reflection since the receipt of your communication, I am compelled to adhere to that conclusion, and to decline the nomination so flatteringly tendered.

I trust, Gentlemen, that you and those you represent will experience no difficulty in agreeing on some other citizen as a candidate for the Senate, and that in the election Orange will do her part to redeem the State from the incompetency, misrule and reckless waste of the public obligations, and destruction of public credit of which she has been the victim, and that in conservative hands our recently adopted institutions will be reformed and adjusted to suit the situation, wants and interests of the people, and their old ideas of economy.

I am with great respect your obedient, servant, W. A. GRAHAM.

To Messrs Turner, Durham and Canady, Committee.

CANDIDATES.

To the Voters of Orange County.

AT the Convention held at this place on the 7th inst. the delegation then assembled bestowed on me the nomination for the seat in the Senate, having given me a majority of 37 votes over any other aspirant and 13 votes over all others combined. Before any other nominations were made the Convention adjourned to meet on the 22nd inst. At that meeting friends came to me and asked if I would abide the action of that meeting, as Gov. Graham's name would be brought before it. Notwithstanding I had been fairly nominated at the previous Convention, for the sake of harmony and a united concert of action, I consented. The result was Gov. Graham was nominated, who now declines the nomination. After reflection and consulting friends, I have concluded to announce myself as a candidate for a seat in the Senate at the election in August next. R. M. JONES.

Hillsboro', May 26th, 1870.

☞ We are authorized to announce JOHN LAWS as a candidate for re-election to the Office of Register of Deeds for Orange county, at the ensuing election to be held the first Thursday in August next.

POETICAL.

The Convict's Mother.

She stood a pale, a pale, fair woman, with a brow,
Where noble thought sat royally enthroned,
And eyes that once had held a fervid fire,
As white as marble and as motionless.
Her hands in agony each other crushed;
Her starting eyes were fixed upon the clock.
In vain the good man of the church was there,
Striving with wordy prayer to comfort her;
She had no ear, no eye, no thought for aught
But that the cruel time was hastening on.
O, even now within the prison-walls,
The hangman's hands are busy with the ropes!
Some piercing words the priest unguarded spoke
So wrought upon her anguish and despair,
She turned upon him, crying "Wretch! fell fiend!
My son! my son! my poor, misguided boy!
God is a just God, nor will permit such thing;
The reprieve, sir, it will come—O yes, 'twill come!"

Again her eyes were fixed upon the clock,
But now she seems the fact; notes not the time.
Turns she again unto the priest and speaks:
"I crave your pardon, sir. I do forget.
You're very kind to come and pray with me.
I thank you. Yes, I thank you. You are kind,
But you do not know, you cannot understand
He is my son. He was my baby, sir.
Nine happy months I bore him 'neath this heart.
What joy I had that time that him I bore!
And when he lay a-cooing in my arms,
What dreams I dreamed for him my fair-browed boy!
I held his dimpled feet within my hands,
And pondered on the heights—that—they—should climb!
O God! O God!

IT COMES.

Comes there a sound of tumult from the street;
So then a glow lights all her haggard face,
And while springing to the door she cries—
"The reprieve! the reprieve! It's come! Thank God it's come!"
Ah! ere the threshold she has reached, rough men
Across its sill bear in a coffin rude,
While he, "the friend," steps blandly to her side,
And says, "Madam, we bring you here your son."

Spice.

A safety match—ten thousand a year on both sides.

There is one lash that no man objects to having laid on his shoulder—the eyelash of a pretty girl.

A man undertook to head off a locomotive at the Broadway railroad crossing the other day. The services at his grave were very impressive.

A young lady being asked by a rich old bachelor, "if not yourself, who would you rather be?" replied sweetly and modestly, "yours truly."

A driver of a coach stopped to get some water for the young ladies inside, being asked what he stopped for, replied, "I'm watering my flowers."

A man on the Helderbergs attempted to dry some damp powder on the stove. His afflicted would be glad of any information as to his whereabouts.

"John," asked a physician of an apothecary's apprentice, "did Mrs. Green get the medicine I ordered?" "I guess so," replied John, "for I saw crape hanging to the door-knob this morning."

A little woman being asked by her Sunday-school teacher, "What did the Israelites do after passing through the Red Sea?" answered: "I don't know, ma'am, but I guess they dried themselves." Why not?"

Figaro having visited the Patent Office and interviewed a crowd of inventors, has come to the conclusion that a venerable old axiom ought to be reversed so as to read: "Invention is the mother of necessity."

An old Arkansas bee hunter saw a fine swarm on a bush, miles from home. He hadn't any hive, so he took off his shirt, tied up the sleeves and neck, scoped them into it, and carried them home.

Persons fond of marmalade should beware of the imported article, as witness the following advertisement which recently appeared in an English journal:

"Having lately contracted on advantageous terms for the sweepings of several large theatres, I am in a position to offer orange-peel at very reduced prices."

"Washington," exclaimed a member of a Nashville debating club, in stentorian tones, "Washington was a great man; he was a good man; he was a noble man; his mind had a powerful grasp of the future; if ever a man was non compos mentis, Washington was that man."

Some time since a gentleman died who, during life, refused to believe in any future punishment. Two or three weeks after his demise his wife received, through a medium, a communication, which read as follows: "Dear wife, I now believe. Please send me my thin clothes and a barrel of ice-water."

A young man in Indiana worked all last summer to clear an eighty acre tract of land belonging to a young woman who had promised to marry him. When, just as the weather began to get cold, he went to claim his reward, she married another fellow who had looked on while the victim was working.

A good story is told us of a diminutive mercantile gent of a neighboring city, who, it is said, recently proposed to a young and buxom damsel, with the following result: "Oh, no," said she, "I can't think of it for a moment. The fact is,———, you're a little too big to put in a cradle, and a little too small to be put in bed?" The backdoor of the stricken youth has since run to seed.

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND
SQUARE & UPRIGHT
Piano Fortes,
Warerooms No. 350 West Balt. St. near Eutaw,
BALTIMORE.
These Instruments have been before the Public for nearly 20 years, and upon their excellence alone attained an unprecedented preeminence which pronounces them unequalled. Their combines great power, sweetness and fine singularity, as well as great purity of Intonation, and evenness throughout the entire scale. Their TOUCH
TONE
is pliant and elastic, and entirely free from the stiffness found in so many Pianos. In WORKMANSHIP
they are unexcelled, using none but the very best seasoned material, the large capital employed in our business enabling us to keep continually an immense stock of lumber, &c. on hand.
All our Square Pianos have our New Improved Overstrung scale and the Agraffe Treble.
We would call special attention to our late improvements in GRAND PIANOS and SQUARE GRANDS, Patented Aug. 14, 1866, which bring the Piano nearer perfection than has yet been attained. Every Piano fully Warranted for 5 years.
Sole Wholesale Agency for Carhart & Needham's celebrated Parlor Organs and Church Harmoniums.

PLANTATION BITTERS.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Wherever it is introduced it becomes a standard article—a medicinal staple. It is to-day the best and purest tonic, and the most popular medicine in the civilized world—be sure and get the genuine. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and Country Stores.
